Another reason why we need one man one vote to vote for a new leader in HK. Or just move out of this place.

How do you plan to merge with China when RMB becomes an international currency? Two different systems between HK and China will just make HK more and more into trouble.

No tax for residential properties and financial services will make sure that the rich gets richer and poor gets poorer. Why not consider Capital Gain Tax? Afraid of the stock and properties market will fall because of it?
