Subject: Environmental tax is what we need

What we need is environmental tax
NOT sales tax

Our polluted environment is driving investors out, affecting our health and reducing our productivity. And it is getting more and more serious. Environmental tax could not only broaden our tax base but improve our environment and image as well.

Sales tax does basically no good except for your argument of 'broadening our tax base'.

When something does two good and another does no good, we should choose the former one.
