We're a middle class family. We've got a daughter who is studying in an International School. Everybody in our family is fully protected by different kind of insurance policies.

We always have a feeling that we paid all the required taxes - profit tax from our business and income tax for our personal income, but we never enjoy any benefit from the government - school & medical especially. Instead of putting the tax responsibility on the businessman & middle class family, we think it is time for the whole society to share their parts - just like the other developed countries.

I strongly believe that GST is a fair system that everyone in the society would have to contribute a portion for what we are enjoying - reliable police force, hospital service, free education.....
