Basically, Hong Kong has more people receiving the social welfare (public housing, lower fees medical care, social security assistance, free education) than paying tax. I will suggest the followings to expand our source of tax:

1. Everyone should pay the income (salaries & social security fund etc.); lower the personal exemption to let people paying tax (That is the basic foundation to build a democratic society).
2. Tax on people using the land custom.
3. Government should put fees on using medical facilities such as ambulance (to stop people unwisely using it). Hospital emergency should charged to HKD 200 that is almost same as private practise doctors' fees.

That's it for now. I hope the government will distribute the social resource fairly & evenly.
